Brass Beauty

Brass is back and it's making a splash in bathroom design. The warm, bright, look-at-me alloy adds a welcome touch of glamour.

Design info

Floor-to-ceiling tiles are still a popular choice in bathrooms and work beautifully paired with brass accents (tiling can look flat if there is no standout feature to play off) – beautiful tapware or accessories in brass and gold would be ideal (2, 3, 5, 6, 8, 10, 11).

One of the latest trends in bathroom design is ditching the giant wall-mounted mirrors in favour of something smaller – a simple square or round brass mirror works wonderfully. Having this extra wall space then allows you to add cool light fixtures or hang an artwork; it also gives you more freedom with the placement of other items such as shelves or towel rails.

While stools or small side tables (7) don't normally make an appearance in the bathroom, we are seeing more and more non-traditional items being used. These are great for placing by the bath for clothing, bathing items or a lovely scented candle.

Navy and brass make a striking colour combo so if you are looking to add a subtle colour to this design, some navy towels (12) would look stunning.
